

Creekside's Report for September

President Dorothy Maskell welcomed members back after the August break and was also pleased to welcome visitor Cheryl Downie. A few groups had continued to meet during the month. Several apologies were received from members due to illness and holidays.

The birthday buttonholes were presented and Marlene Cassidy was thanked for making them.

The Garden Party in July was enjoyed by members despite having had to be held in the hall due to inclement weather. Cakes, craft items and bottles adorned Creekside's stall at Wootton's "Party in the Park", also held in July, and both events made a pleasing profit.

Thanks were given to Linda Sheasby for organizing the outing to Brighton in August with some members visiting the Pavilion and others enjoying the shopping experience.

The Northshore Group will meet at 2 pm. on 7th October at Church Close Hall, Wootton Bridge, the Speaker will be Mr. T. Sapey from the Mary Rose Trust. "The Life and Death of a Tudor Sailor".

Everyone was asked to consider standing for committee as four new committee members will be required. A questionnaire was handed to members asking for ideas for events for next year to make it a memorable year, as it will be Creekside's 50th Birthday

As the speaker booked for the evening was unable to attend, Jennifer Goodall kindly stepped in and organized games of Beetle, which provided an hilarious end to the evening.

The winner of the Best Bloom competition was Maureen Turner and the winner of the Poster competition was Cheryl Howell.
